

CVATC would like to nominate Richard L. Barrick as volunteer of the year. Dick has been the only Maintainer Co-ordinator in the history of CVATC. He held the post for more than ten years until health forced him to resign early in 2006. During this time he worked closely with the section maintainers, having trained many of them. He personally walked the entire CVATC Trail section five or six times each year in order to see what maintenance might be needed. Hikers have often commented that the Trail is well-maintained in the Cumberland Valley, and Dick's efforts are no small part of the reason for that. He has been one of the active core who really make CVATC work, and has years of dedication merit this recognition.
